Subject: Pig Ears

Jones Naturals is committed to providing safe, natural dog bones and chews to its customers. All Jones products are raised, sourced, and manufactured in the USA according to the highest quality and safety standards.

Jones maintains an SQF Food Safety Code Certification, which requires a HACCP inspection system and is recognized by GFSI. This includes 3rd party testing of each product batch to ensure it is free from Salmonella and other bacteria before leaving its facilities. Customers can have confidence knowing that a rigorous food safety system is in place.

According to the FDA website, to date, human Salmonella infections have been linked to pig ears imported from Argentina and Brazil. At this time, Jones pig ears are not part of the current FDA investigation and Jones has not issued any recalls.

Thank you for your business and continued support of the Jones Naturals brands.
